QUALITY

Big Baby

KC 77

BIG BABY

BONUS: 4 KARMA

Pain is a fact of life in the Sixth World, and shadowrunners know that better than most. While most runners accept that they are going to get hurt and are prepared to deal with it, others flinch from the possibility of damage, and this gets more severe each time they actually get hurt. When they're out on the job, if they are burned, shot, zapped, punched, or otherwise damaged, the character becomes extremely reluctant to rejoin the fray.

When a character with this quality is dealt Physical damage, they suffer a -1 penalty to combat dice pools until the enemy or obstacle that dealt the damage is overcome or destroyed.

Biocompatibility (Cyberware)

CF 54

Distinctive Style

SR5 80

DISTINCTIVE STYLE

BONUS: 5 KARMA

A character with the Distinctive Style quality has at least one aspect of his appearance, mannerism, or personality that makes him inconveniently memorable. Choices for Distinctive Style include, but are by no means limited to: tattoos that cannot be easily concealed, an accent or atypical manner of speaking, bizarre fashion choices, scars, gang or prison signs, flashy custom augmentations, or non-metahuman modifications like a tail. Note that what's distinctive in one culture or location may not be in another.

Whatever Distinctive Style the player selects makes her character easy to remember. Anyone who attempts to identify, trace, or physically locate this character (or gain information about him via legwork) receives a +2 dice pool modifier for relevant tests. If an NPC makes a Memory Test (p. 152) to determine how much they recall about the character, reduce the Difficulty Threshold by 1, to a minimum of 1.

This quality is physical in nature and does not apply to astral searches. This quality may only be taken once.

This quality is incompatible with Blandness.

REDLINER

(COST: 10 KARMA)

Any cyberlimbs you have installed are jacked-to-themax, with safety limits disabled and performance overclocked beyond what the warranty normally covers, and that's the way you like it. You receive +1 Strength and +1 Agility for every two full cyberarms or cyberlegs installed, up to a maximum of +2 for both attributes (sorry, no super centipede-man builds). The downside to pushing your 'ware that hard, however, is that the strain is quite damaging. You lose three Physical Condition Monitor boxes per two full cyberarms and legs installed. Normally, every cyberlimb gives you one additional box, but with this quality, after two full limbs you end up with net one less box (i.e., -1 instead of +2).

Restricted Gear

RF 149

RESTRICTED GEAR

COST: 10 KARMA PER ITEM

Right place, right time, right friend, or the stars aligned.

No matter the reason, the character has managed to acquire or get a line on one piece of really hard-to-find gear she absolutely had to have. The character can take this quality up to three times; only one of those times can occur at character creation. Selecting it at character creation allows the character to buy a piece of gear with an Availability of up to 24 (circumventing the normal Availability limit at character creation). After character creation, taking this quality lets the character purchase one piece of gear with an Availability up to 18 during play with just a single commcall. They do, however, have to pay an extra thirty percent for the item.

Datajack: A datajack gives you a direct neural inter- face (p. 222), which can be handy in a lot of situations. It also comes with a retractable spool of micro-cable (about a meter long) that lets you directly interface with any electronic device via a universal access cable. Datajacks are equipped with their own cache of storage memory for downloading or saving files. Two datajack users can string a fiberoptic cable between themselves to conduct a private mental communication immune to radio interception or eavesdropping.

Nanotattoos 3	0.00	None	CF 148
NANOTATTOOS
Once injected, nanotattoo hard machines embed themselves as a lattice of liquid crystal microdisplays under the subject's skin. A Rating 1 nanotattoo covers one limb or the face, Rating 2 covers half the body, and Rating 3 covers the whole body. A nanotattoo (or "nanotat") can be reprogrammed to display any image the user wishes, including preprogrammed animation. They can also be programmed to be inactive and appear indistinguishable from your normal skin. Reprogramming nanotats in this manner does not reduce its rating. Nanotattoos can provide effective camouflage, if you have a full body treatment and you're not wearing much, imposing a -1 dice pool modifier to Perception tests to detect you visually.

Grond is often found wandering the streets to keep his gear safe. After all, the best form of security is himself, and apart from his bicycle it all fits in a duffel bag. Storage lockers at transit stations make for good storage of both bags and bicycles, and are often near to locations of interest. When he needs sleep, he has a shortlist of motels that aren't too dicey, and have good locks on the doors, but don't ask too many questions. Still, he sleeps light, with his mace on hand and credsticks in his pyjamas pockets, with the duffel bag packed on the floor next to him.

Description

Giant beefcake of a troll. Bro's got fucking aura. Around the barrens he's usually in full combat gear, the classic Big Game Hunter + addons combo. Not that he needs it. He may look like a knight, but that big fuck-off osmium mace and SWAT shield aren't just for show, though you could probably tell by how he effortlessly hefts with a single hand something most people can't even lift. If you catch him with something more casual, he's a fan of open-breast orksploitation suits styled like some wannabe Yak, showing off his chrome and a tattoo of a troll wearing a dragon's maw as a helm across his chest. Usually white, of course.

Background

You know the problem with making a bulletproof troll that can bust through walls? Well, now you have to somehow contain the bulletproof troll who can bust through walls. Non-lethally, since it represents such an investment.

It's hard to say who would fund such a thing, especially when the "victim" himself didn't know. Years of torture broke them initially, giving the gang the control they needed for the initial modifications. But their goal was to push the physical limits of the cheap chrome they could afford. You might say they got lucky with the candidate, but the trail of dead trolls says otherwise, and they were able to fit chrome in excess into this one to match military specifications--not realizing, of course, that the military specification called for much higher grade 'ware than they could afford. Still, the ripperdocs did what they did best: make medically dubious decisions, implanting 'ware far past its sell-by-date and hoping for the best. Sure, they got some quality stuff, but it's obvious the budget became an issue on this project, which they made up for by overclocking.

Now we get back to the original problem, and at that point even the ripperdocs were saying enough was enough. Sure, someone might have pushed to try and implant a kink bomb, but everyone agreed that this prototype couldn't be reproduced and was unstable as it was. So they used a bomb collar, and that seemed to keep him in line. The gang used their creation to make a name for themselves, which attracted the unfortunate ire of the Gianellis. But even the Gianellis didn't want to deal with the bulletproof fragging troll.

So they hired a team. Y'see, the difference between these grassroots mad scientists and organized crime is resources. The Gianellis didn't have a big frag off troll because they didn't need a big frag off troll. They could just hire one, when needed, not that they did in this instance.

Well, shadowrunners work smarter, not harder, and they did their legwork right on this one: Rather than crush this gang themselves, as the job description implied, with a few strokes of his deck the decker deactivated the bomb collar. They then infiltrated the facility, who for all intents and purposes Grond was the only guard, and told him their work.

Though not the brightest, he had an inkling the bomb was disarmed, so before the Face could finish talking was already walking towards the boss' office. The gang's leadership was literally and figuratively dismantled that night, with the runners taking care of any important loose threads.

With no SIN and no skills, Grond would have trouble navigating his free life, but no sane businessman would let such an asset be squandered like that. The team's fixer made contact, and the rest is history.
